Two new videos

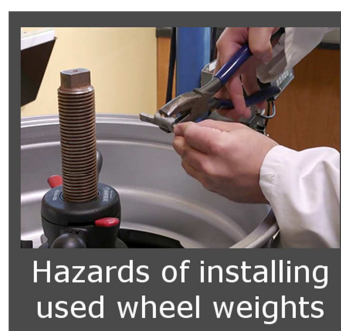

VALLEYFIELD (Quebec), December 7, 2015 – PLOMBCO is proud to launch two new videos. The videos can be found at www.plombco.com/videos or on our YouTube channel.

The automotive industry is experiencing an increase in used wheel weight installation practices that could have dangerous outcome and cause damage to customer vehicles. In an effort to help educate the technicians, Plombco added to its website a video explaining the risks associated with used wheel weights.

Installing new wheel weights and using the proper tool during installation will eliminate damage and ensure safe vehicle operation. Plombco created a video demonstrating how using the right tool can make a difference.
